LESSON FOR JUNE 6
SAUL'S FAILURE.

LESSON TEXT—I Sam. 15.
GOLDEN TEXT—For thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord hath rejected thee.—I Sam. 15:23.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—I Sam. 14: 4-12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A King Who Disobeyed God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Saul Lost His Kingdom.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC
—Why Saul Failed.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC
—The Strength and Weakness of Saul's Character.

This is one of the saddest pictures in Bible history. No one has had a brighter prospect before him than Saul, yet no one has made a greater failure.
He possessed strong natural gifts, the qualities of a great king. He had a fine physique, which greatly favors one's success in life, other things being equal. He had the benefit of Samuel's advice and godly life, which was of inestimable value.

I. The Command to Saul (vv. 1-3).
He is commanded to utterly exterminate the Amalekites, leaving neither people nor booty. The reason assigned is their evil treatment of Israel as they came up out of Egypt (Ex. 17:8; Deut. 25:17). This command may seem cruel, but we must remember that it was given by the Lord, who has the right to kill or to make alive. The wickedness of this people was very great. Their judgment was only such as their sin deserved. It was not Israel's sin, but God's, Israel only being the sword in his hand.

II. The Disobedience of Saul (vv. 4-3).
He renders a partial obedience.
Agas, the king, is spared and the best of the goods is appropriated. The purpose of God's thoroughgoing command was to show that it was a warfare of judgment for wickedness, not for greed.
Saul only obeyed as far as his inclinations led him. The obedience to God which is limited by the heart's inclination is the worst kind of obedience.

III. Saul Rebuked by Samuel (vv. 10-25).
1. Samuel cried to God (v. 11). The news of this disgraceful act greatly disturbed Samuel, causing him to cry to the Lord all night.

2. Saul's hypocritical pretense (vv. 15, 16). Saul met Samuel with the pretense of having executed the Lord's commandment. This pretense carried a lie upon its face. Those who are the most willing to speak of their obedience are the ones who are conscious of disobedience, and their consciences trouble them over it. Though disturbed by a guilty conscience he tried to conciliate Samuel, the prophet, but the very bleating of the sheep and the lowing of the herds betrayed him.
Thus betrayed, he tried to shift the blame upon the people (v. 15). This is always the way. It matters not what the crime may be, some excuse can be made for it. He then played the hypocrite by trying to make it pass as an act of devotion to God (v. 15).
He should have known that things gained by disobedience to God are an abomination to him. Offerings to God of ill-gotten gains can never atone for sins of disobedience and neglect. Saul tried to justify himself by pleading that he was keeping the spirit of the commandment, while not literally carrying out its requirements. He has many successors today who do not believe in the literal interpretation and practice of God's Word.

3. Samuel rebukes before Saul God's dealing with him (vv. 17-23).
Saul met this hypocrisy by bringing him to square face his sin. God is more concerned in having his subjects render obedience unto his commandments than he is for them to offer unto him sacrifices. Such an act when the heart is in rebellion is as hateful to God as withcraft and idolatry.

IV. The Judgment upon Saul (vv. 26-35).
For the presumptuous offering of sacrifice the dynasty passed from Saul's house, and for this act of flagrant disobedience the kingdom is rent from him. It is taken from Saul and given to his neighbor, who is better than he. He confessed his sin and begged Samuel to still honor him before the elders of the people. This further shows his self-centered life.
His honor was more to him than the glory of God. Samuel forsook him and left him alone to suffer in disgrace. He refused to punish the Ama-lekite (II Sam. 1:10). Unless we slay our enemies they will slay us. Judgment shall come sooner or later upon those who sin, for "the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Rom. 6:23).

Great Deeds.
We all want to do some great thing —to what prophets, saints, heroes, and martyrs have done. But the small thing, the commonplace thing, the little trivial duty, the thing that has to be done out of everybody's sight—in the routine of business, home or school —that seems poor work to do for God.
But it is what he wants us to do.—C.
J. Perry.

Knowledge.
Knowledge is folly unless grace guides it.

LIVE STOCK

BIG REDUCTION IN CHOLERA Decrease in Swine Loss of 72 Per Cent Noted in Six Counties in North Carolina.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

An example of the benefit which may come to a community from the well-directed efforts of state and federal agencies, coupled with the co-operation of farmers, for the control of hog cholera is shown in a recent report of a veterinary inspector of the bureau of animal industry.

Hog cholera control work was inaugurated in six counties in the northeastern section of North Carolina August 1, 1916. An intensive campaign was carried on for a period of 14 months. It included investigation of reported outbreaks, demonstrations in the use of serum and virus, and the disinfection of premises. As the services of practicing veterinarians were not available, a number of laymen were trained in the administration of the serum treatment for cholera. After that period of intensive activities the work was withdrawn to another section of the state, only general supervision being given to the original area.

During October a survey was made of the counties comprising the district in question, and a questionnaire was submitted to as many of the farmers as could be reached. Answers received and tabulated indicate that there has been a reduction in losses from cholera of over 72 per cent, and an increase of over 180 per cent in swine production, due to the protection offered by the immunization of the animals. There has also been a Shoulder Injection for Hog Cholera. marked improvement in the type of this class of animals, due to the knowledge that it is possible to raise more and better hogs without danger of having them destroyed by cholera.

BRONCHITIS IN LITTLE PIGS

Not Much Can Be Done in Way of Treatment—Damp, Cold Pens Are Cause of Trouble.

Bronchitis most commonly occurs in young pigs. Matured hogs are seldom troubled with it. If it attacks very young pigs it often proves fatal, but pigs two or three months old will generally survive, though their growth may be seriously interfered with. The disease is accompanied by a distressing cough, which usually disappears with the advent of warm weather and outdoor exercise. Little can be done in the way of treatment. Dry pens free from drafts, nourishing feed and as much exercise as possible are the principal points to be observed. Damp, cold pens are the most common cause of this trouble.

MORE HOGS ARE NEEDED NOW

Every Farmer Must Put Forth Best Endeavors to Produce More Pork This Season.

If we expect to continue to provide meat to foreign peoples as well as our own people, every farmer must put forth his best effort to produce more hogs. Hogs can be kept profitably upon many farms where they are not found today. Farmers who already produce hogs can produce more, for there is not much chance of producing meat this year in excess of the requirements.

FEED LIVE STOCK LIBERALLY

Farmer Should Make It a Rule to Keep No More Animals Than He Can Feed Well.

Make it a golden rule to keep no more stock on the farm than you have enough feed to supply liberally. Sell off the others, even though it seems a sacrifice. For there is no sacrifice equal to that which comes from stunted live stock.

FARM POULTRY

ROOST WILL DESTROY MITES

Plan Outlined for Completely Clearing Poultry House of All Thirsty Blood-Suckers.

One successful way to rid poultry houses of mites is to use a roosting pole that will harbor them during the day, so that it can be soaked with hot water to destroy them. The roost shown provides a place on the underside where they may hide. It consists of a lath held under the roost with small nails to make the hiding place inviting for them. You simply lift the roost from the holders, slightly loosen the pieces of lath, and pour boiling water between the lath and the roosts. This will kill all vermin and destroy any eggs that may be there. The roosts will quickly dry if the water is hot.

In this way a poultry house can be completely cleared of all blood-suckers.

A Hiding Place Is Provided for Vermin in This Poultry Roost to Catch Them During the Day.

on the place. The iron ends are colder than the wood, and the vermin will not crawl over them.

Mites do not attack fowl in the daytime, and it is difficult to discover their presence. Body lice remain on the fowl all the time, and they may be exterminated in the following way: Hang the fowl head downward in a barrel and rub a small amount of flouride of soda well into the feathers for half the length of the fowl. This is a harmless powder and it can be used on chicks as well.—George W. Smith, in Popular Science Monthly.

PREMIUM FOR GRADED EGGS

Fact Is Due to Strict Grading Practiced by Shippers of Far West, Say Specialists.

Eggs from the Pacific coast in large amounts were first shipped across the continent to the New York city market two years ago. Now they are bringing a premium of from 1 to 2 cents, according to market quotations.

That this is due to the strict grading practiced by the shippers of the far West is the belief of men in the bureau of agriculture, United States department of agriculture. The reputation for careful grading which the Westerners have attained in other products shipped East has spread to include eggs.

PTOMAINE POISONING CAUSES

Decaying Flesh When Eaten by Hens Is Harmful—Dispose of Carcasses of Dead Fowls.

Carcasses of dead fowls if not properly disposed of will decay rapidly in hot weather. The by-products of putrefying bacteria, accumulating rapidly, attack the digestive systems of any chicks which are rash enough to eat their unfortunate brothers. When enough of the decaying flesh is eaten by the birds, ptomaine poisoning results.

FEED SUPPLY FOR CHICKENS

Grow Oats, Vetch and Rape for Summer Use—Cabbage and Mangel Beets Good for Winter.

Green feed is excellent for poultry and can be substituted for a considerable amount of the grain ration.
Grow oats, vetch and rape for summer use; cabbage and mangel beets for winter. Store cabbage and beets in a dry room or bury in a pit and cover with straw and earth.

POULTRY NOTES

- Feed a dry mash.
- Keep house and yard clean.
- Provide roosts and dropping boards.
- Provide a nest for each four or five hens.
- Make the house dry and free from drafts, but allow for ventilation.
- Keep hens free from lice and the house free from mites.
- Kill and eat the hens in the summer and fall as they begin to molt and cease to lay.
- A clean cellar, two-thirds below ground surface, makes a good place to set the incubator.

THE SALVATION ARMY INC.

Mr. Jere C. West,
Bedford, Pa.
My dear Mr. West:—

Remembering the splendid service which our soldier boys rendered over seas, the SALVATION ARMY operates an institution in Atlantic City for the purpose of affording outings to convalescent soldiers still in the service and under a doctor's care.
Periodically the various Provinces throughout the country operate excursions at the expense of the SAL-VATION ARMY for those boys. The next excursion to be operated from this Province is scheduled for Thursday morning, June 10th, the train to arrive at Atlantic City the same evening.

The expenses of the soldier boys are taken care of by the SALVA-TION ARMY from the time the boys leave Pittsburgh on the morning of the 10th, until their return to this city TWO WEEKS from that day.

Western Pennsylvania has the privilege of naming ten soldiers as guests of the SALVATION ARMY on this trip. Bedford County may designate two of the ten, and we should be very glad indeed to have you name Bedford County's quota.
The only conditions are that the soldier must be a convalescent, still in the service and under the care of a doctor.

May I ask that you give me the names and addresses of the soldiers coming under this classification, whom you desire to name from Bedford County.

Cordially and sincerely yours, (Signed) Joseph L. Bowles, Jr.
Associate Director.

Note:—I will appreciate it if anyone who may know of a soldier in Bedford County coming within the above provisions will report his name and address to me at once. QUICK ACTION IS IMPERATIVE. I feel sure that the boys going from this County will be permitted to board the excursion train at either Altoona or Huntingdon, and in that event, I feel equally sure that I can arrange for free transportation to one or another of those points, thus making ENTIRE TRIP ABSOLUTELY WITH-OUT COST.

Jere C. West.

"OLD GUARD" IS LIKELY TO AGAIN BE SUPREME

Progressive Element of G. O. P. Worried at Prospect of Being Flattened by "Road Roller."

So-called "progressive" Republicans are all wrought up over prospects of "Old Guard" domination at Chicago. They have heard that Henry Cabot Lodge, reactionary leader, is to be selected to deliver the keynote speech.

To forestall Chairman Hays and Senator Penrose, Senators Borah, Kenyon and others have launched a campaign for a progressive for temporary or permanent chairman of the convention. Mr. Borah, Senator Hiram Johnson's "ace" has been selected by the progressive contingent in the Senate to stand for one of the chairmanships.

The progressives would do a little keynoting on their own account and are not pleased with the idea of a Lodge slogan.

But it is apparently too late for the "Progressives" to make headway against the "Old Guard" leader-ers of the Senate. They lost their golden opportunity in May, 1919, at the beginning of the first session of the present Congress, when they could have defeated Senator Penrose for the chairmanship of the Finance Committee. Instead, they helped to elect him, and he has been chuckling ever since Senators Borah, Kenyon, Norris, and others of the progressive wing marched up like good little partisans and supported Penrose. Now they are reaping just what they sowed. Penrose will name the "keynoter" and all of the other speakers for the Chicago meet, and unless a revolution stops him, he will also name the candidate for President.

Republican Congressmen fear the labor vote this year. They realize that it will be difficult to hold both the manufacturer, who clamors for a tariff wall to guarantee large profits and the workman, who is trying to make a living wage. The outstanding fact that the Republican party has done but little for the laboring man is beginning to hurt. While the Democrats point with pride to their legislative record on this subject, their opponents must rely on promises, and they have discovered that the people back home have checked up on them contrasting their campaign pledges and their post-election performances.

The Democrats have a long list of labor laws to their credit. Here are some of them: The eight-hour law, passed by the Sixty-second Congress the law establishing a children's bureau; a law making for the safety of railway employees; the workmen's compensation act; the seaman's law; the anti-injunction law and other important measures for the protection and comfort of working people.

For twenty years labor's representative beat upon the doors of Congress, but were not heard. When the Democrats came into power in Congress ten years ago, one of the first things they did was to give the workman a fair hearing and to make an honest effort to correct the grievances he complained of and to enact desirable legislation. Under the Democratic administration, conditions for working men and women have steadily improved; wages have more than doubled, and in many instances, trebled.

Sile ever stayed in a hotel and he got a great deal of pleasure out of telling the boys back home of the nice way they put the feed to one and how nice they all tried to be to a fellow guest "But," Sile said, "speaking of pests, the bed-bug has them all skinned. When old Noah was taking two of all living things into the ark he most certainly blundered when he took on a pair of bedbugs." He says however, that he cannot help but feel that, Noah being a pretty wise sort of fellow, with divine guidance, back in the dark ages the bed-bug must have been a sort of respectable bug from the standpoint of purpose and intent, but by neglect in the matter of feeding and training has become a degenerate.

Author Also a Fighter.

A recently published history of the New York Sun contains this unpoetic reminiscence of William Cullen Bryant: "Bryant was a busy man, for he was the chief editor of the Evening Post as well as a magazine contributor and a teacher. Fame had come to him early, for 'Thanatopsis' was published when he was twenty-three, and 'To a Waterfowl' appeared a year later, in 1818. Now, in his thirties, he was no longer the delicate youth, the dreamy poet. One April day in 1831 Bryant and William L. Stone, one of the editors of the Commercial Advertiser, had a rare fight in front of the city hall, the poet beginning it with a cowskin whip swung at Stone's head, and the spectators ending it after Stone had seized the whip. These two were editors of sixpenny 'respecta-bles.'"

Selling the Gospel.

In "professional" circles it is common to disparage salesmanship as a phase of commercialism—a specious art by which people are induced to buy what they do not want—and yet publicity, preaching, propaganda, and other forms of salesmanship are needed to overcome the natural inertia of mankind and to persuade them to mend their ways. In this sense clergymen, physicians, lawyers, statesmen, teachers, artists, writers, philantrop-ists, engineers and all other "professional" people have something to sell, and, while some decline to accept remuneration, they are usually glad to have their wares accepted and appreciated. Even the gospel has to be sold, though without money and without price.—J. E. Rossignol, in the Review.

Live on the Sunny Side.

There are two classes of people to be met almost daily; the people who live in the shadow and gloom, and those who live on the sunny side of the street. The shadowed ones are sometimes called pessimists sometimes people of melancholy temperament; sometimes disagreeable people.
Whoever they go their characteristic is this—their shadows always travel on before them. Most people do not bear their own burdens, but expose all their wounds to others. They are so busy looking down for pitfalls and sharp stones on which to step that they do not know that there are stars in the sky. These people live on the wrong side of the street, and yet, if they would only walk 20 feet to the other sidewalk, where they would feel the warmth of the sun, it would make all the difference to their feelings.

A Tale.

Mrs. C. E. Means old. What was familiar to her was the songs of the bird, it is the same today tomorrow.
Whistled in the old, hummed in the workshop, rattled from the guitar, leaping from the keys of the piano, heard from year to year until every note wakens some memory, who can follow the course or measure the influence of one single, simple tune. . .
No corner of the world where it may not go and make its influence felt. The little black-eyed troubadour plays it to the throng passing along the city streets. It is sung by the boatman on the Mississippi and the miner in the mountain gorges of the West. And away on the banks of the Seine, the Rhine and the Arno it floats, doubly welcome and dearer than ever to the wanderer.—Charles F. Searle.

Perfection's Price In Tire Building

A tire-maker's first problem is to decide how much he can give for the money. This, and every other question in tire building, depends upon policies.

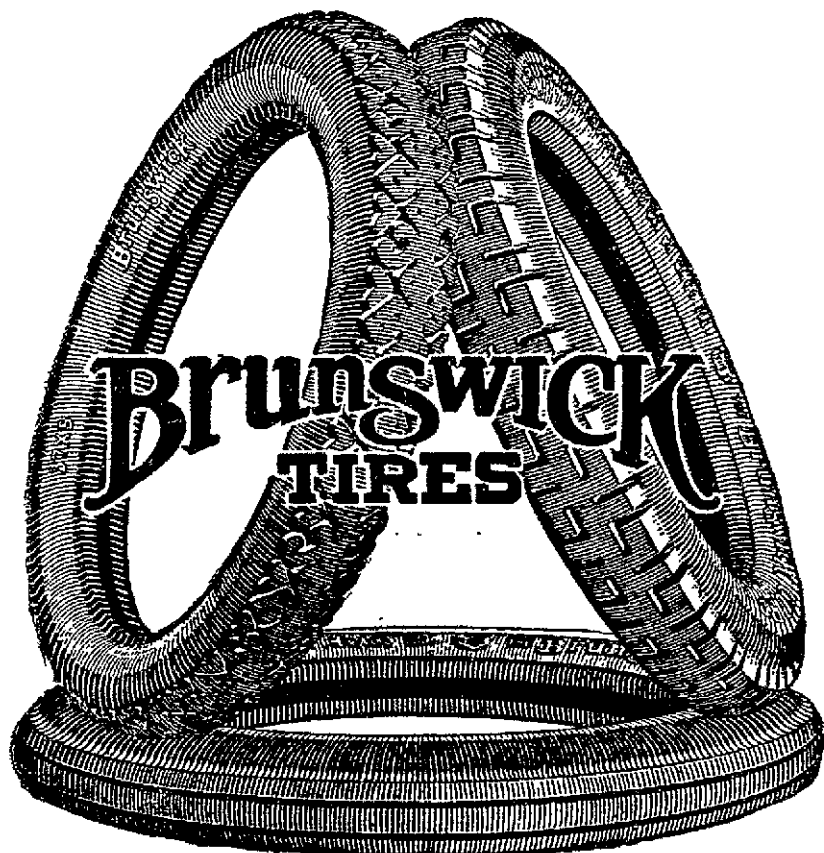

A super-tire, such as The Brunswick, can be made only by a concern which knows well and appreciates that there is nothing exclusive in the tire industry except high standards.

Since 1845 the House of Brunswick has held first place in every line it entered. Brunswick Tires, as more and more motorists come to know them, will certainly be awarded that coveted place held only by the superline.

Motorists who buy one Brunswick usually adopt it for complete equipment. Yet this is not strange, since the first one so completely proves its superiority.

If the name of Brunswick certifies to you, as to most men, an extraordinary tire, at no higher price, would it not be good business to test one or two Brunswick Tires?

POINT

Miss Harriet Burns of Martinsburg Pa., is spending a vacation of a week or two visiting among her many friends in this community.

J. W. Hissong and wife of Windber spent from Friday evening until Saturday morning with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Hissong. On Saturday they went to Mann's Choice and visited among friends there until Tuesday evening when they returned to their home.

Lee Rose and mother, Mrs. Adam Rose, of Bethel Hollow, visited the latter's daughter, Mrs. Mary Mock on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison and six children of Nanty Glo and Mr. Herman Goon and wife of Windber, were the guests of the family of Frank Goon on Sunday.

Guy Shaffer killed two large black snakes measuring four and a half and four feet, while working for William Smith last week. Miss Lou Amick killed one also but we can't say how large it was, and Miss Amanda Mock threw a stone at one she saw in the road. Representative Byrns shows That Alleged Saving by Congress Is All On Paper.

Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, ranking minority member of the House Appropriations Committee, has completely exploded the claim of Republican leaders in the House that they have saved millions of dollars to the taxpayers through reductions in appropriations.

Discussing such a claim made for the House majority by Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, Republican floor leader, Mr. Byrns said:

"I was very much surprised when the gentleman from Wyoming broadly claimed a reduction of estimates by the departments to be a saving on the part of Congress or a positive proof of economy. I was equally surprised when the gentleman from Iowa Mr. Good referred to the various reductions in the estimates on appropriation bills as a saving to the Treasury. There is no well-informed man who does not know that it has been the uniform custom of all Congresses, whether Democratic or Republican, to largely reduce the estimates from the departments.

"If that sort of reduction is to be called a saving to the Treasury, then I want to call your attention to the fact that for the fiscal year 1918, when both branches were Democratic the estimates were reduced in the sum of $5,554,161,598.31."

As a matter of fact, Mr. Byrns told the House, applying the same rule that Mr. Mondell employed for a basis for his claim of saving by this Congress, Democratic Congresses during the present administration have saved to the Treasury more than nine billions of dollars.

It is also true, Mr. Byrns, declared that an analysis of the great annual appropriation bills passed by this Congress shows that in every particular where they are compared with appropriations for the same activities made by recent Democratic Congresses, the appropriations made by the present Congress show an increase.

Republican Senators are too busy campaigning to enact constructive legislation. They cannot keep a quorum on the floor to pass measures that business interests or the people at large are keenly interested in.

A fine illustration of the real situation came in the Senate the other day when the dyestuffs bill, which has been pending for months, failed of final consideration because it was impossible to muster more than 39 Senators.

No excuse that the Republicans did not know that the dyestuffs bill was up will hold good. In the face of the knowledge that the people put their money in the dye industry during the war, and that President Wilson had appealed for protection for them against German manufactures, the leaders permitted the quorum to fade away.

Two calls for a quorum disclosed that only 39 Senators were present. "It is very evident," said Senator Watson, "that a quorum cannot readily be obtained this afternoon. I move that the Senate adjourn."

That is typical of the record of the Republican Senate on constructive legislation.

Senator Hiram Johnson's successful round-up of the discordant elements in the G. O. P. has struck terror to the hearts of the G. O. P. leaders in Congress. They are casting about for a new and stronger position.

The first that Lodge started when he began his ill-concealed program to kill the peace treaty is getting beyond control. Senator Penrose, boss of the party organization, in a desperate effort to regain control of the situation has turned to Senator Knox the Senator who said the Versailles treaty was too hard on Germany. It is understood in Washington that Mr. Penrose hopes to check the Wood and Johnson fight by drawing the pro-Germans from the one and the "interests" from the other.

Republicans believe Mr. Penrose has waited too long to throw out his life-line. They see a Wood and Johnson controversy to the end.

In the last days of a loafing partisan Congress, the leaders are at cross purposes, and at sea on important measures. In the House there is an open and determined revolt against the "steering committee."

These are but a few of the troubles of the Republicans.

"EDFORD TESTIMONY"

HOME PROOF, HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

When you see Doan's Kidney Pills recommended in this paper you most always find the recommender a Bedford resident. It's the same everywhere in 3,800 towns in the U. S. Fifty thousand people publicly thank Doan's. What other kidney remedy can give this proof of merit, honesty and truth? Home testimony must be true or it could not be published here. Read this Bedford recommendation. Then insist on having Doan's. You will know what you are getting:

William H. Trout, 202 Spring St. says: "About a year ago I was doing some heavy lifting and a day or so after I noticed a bad pain in the small of my back. I had awful headaches in the morning and there were pains all over me when I tried to bend over. I was almost doubled up with the pains in my back. One of the family who is a great believer in Doan's Kidney Pills induced me to try them. After taking half a box the pain in my back gradually left and after continuing the use of Doan's a while longer, all these symptoms of kidney trouble disappeared. I cannot say enough for this remedy and I am glad of the opportunity to endorse them.

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Trout had. Foster Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Label for Poison Bottles.

Perhaps the simplest of all devices for protecting people from taking doses from poison bottles by mistake is the sandpaper label. The actual label with usual skull and crossbones is pasted on a piece of sandpaper large enough to go all round the bottle. When a child takes up the bottle he can't get his hand on the label. On the sandpaper label the words "POISON" are written in large letters. The sandpaper label will tell the child that the bottle is dangerous.

OH, DEAR! MY BACK!

Merciful Heavens, how my back hurts in the morning!" It's all due to an over-abundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking "Anuric" (anti-uric-acid). This can be obtained at almost any drug store, in tablet form.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, get Dr. Pierce's Anuric, it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Send Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., ten cents for trial package.

PENFIELD, PA.—"Just a few lines to let others know what benefit I received from Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. I had an excess of uric acid during expectancy. I got very bad, could scarcely get around, but before I had taken one bottle of the 'Anuric Tablets' I was again able to get around, and I got along fine. I gladly recommend these tablets for I think they saved my life. Thanks to Dr. Pierce."—Mrs. S. E. RHODES, Box 77.

"Where glasses are made right"

Not Pinckney's Words.

"Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute." is attributed to Charles Cotesworth Pinckney. When John Jay, in 1796, made his famous treaty with England which threatened to involve the United States in war with France, the directory would not receive the American ambassador, but intimated that the matter might be settled by the payment of a certain sum. Pinckney indignantly answered with the above phrase. It is said, however, that long afterward Pinckney was asked if he had ever said it, and he replied: "No, my answer was not a flourish like that, but simply, 'Not a penny, not a penny.'" Maryland an Old State.

"Maryland, My Maryland," was one of the thirteen original states. In 1632 Cecilius Calvert, second Lord Baltimore, received from Charles I a charter conferring on him possession of the territory now forming the states of Maryland and Delaware. Thus he became a sort of feudal lord, in supreme authority over the colony. Maryland had a long list of proprietary and royal governors before it was organized as a state in 1777.

The fishing smack Hoodenagset, Captain Skidmore of Essex, Conn., had, among several interesting marine relics, a lady's gold watch taken from the stomach of a codfish near the reef off Nantucket, Mass. The timepiece is marked on the interior of the case, "Bergee, No. 8722, London, England," with no date. It is in a perfect state of preservation, with the hands marking 12:15 o'clock. More Than Ten Million Dippings Made by Employees of the Department of Agriculture.

In the work of eradicating sheep scabies from the United States employees of the United States department of agriculture made more than 22 million inspections and supervised more than ten million dippings during the last fiscal year. The work was conducted in co-operation with state officials. No cases of sheep scabies are now known to exist in Montana or North Dakota, in addition to numerous other states where the disease had previously been eradicated. In Idaho a spread of the infection during the previous year has been brought under control. Sheep scabies is a disease that has been prevalent chiefly in the western part of the United States.

KEEPING CATTLE AND SWINE

It Remains to Be Determined What Are Most Common and Best-Paying Propositions.

The keeping of cattle and of swine appear to be almost inseparable operations. This fact is being brought out in the returns of the "Better Sires—Better Stock" crusade of the agricultural colleges, the United States department of agriculture and co-operating agencies. This general practice has long been known, but much more definite information is being gathered, and the purpose is to extend it to such an extent as to determine the relationships among all meat animals.

If nearly every man who keeps cattle also keeps hogs, and if nearly every man who keeps hogs also keeps cattle, the inevitable conclusion is that the combination pays, especially when purebred sires are used. But it remains to be determined what are the most common and the best-paying propositions. The same thing applies also to combinations of cattle and sheep or swine and sheep, or cattle and sheep and swine. One benefit of the work will be that it will enable the man of small personal experience to avail himself of the wide experience of a great number of men in working out the combinations of meat animals that he will carry on his farm.

ECONOMICAL FEED FOR BEEF

As Silage Becomes Better Known Feeders Will Better Appreciate Its Feeding Value.

There is no doubt but that silage is an economical feed in the beef-cattle ration and as its value becomes better known feeders will better appreciate its merits. In spite of the fact that it is an unbalanced feed itself, it can be fed with one of the highly concentrated feeds, such as oil meal or cottonseed meal, and makes a ration which is surely hard to beat in fattening cattle.

CARE OF EWE IS IMPORTANT

Machine Through Which Lamb Will Obtain Qualities to Enable It to Top Market

What is done for the lamb is not so important as the care and liberal feeding of the ewe. The ewe must be regarded as the machine through which the lamb will obtain the qualities that will enable it to top the markets.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

It is very essential that ewes should be properly fed.

A self-feeder can be used to excellent advantage for fattening hogs and pigs.

Better live stock aids the breeder both in direct returns and by giving a locality a favorable reputation.

In the cold months many farmers fail to give the stock enough salt. Salt is a vital part of each animal's ration.

THROUGH THE YEARS

By GEORGE E. COBB

Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.

She was twelve, and he fourteen, and it was a birthday party given in honor of a child of ten. Most of those attending the function were about, or under that age, but Effie Sands and Bertram Morris, both entered fully into the spirit of the occasion.

The tiny debutante of the occasion had distributed a bowl of old-fashioned candy lozenges, so dear to the childish heart, and incipient swains spelled out the gushing sentiments printed in glaring red upon the white surfaces. Very timidly Bertram presented one to Effie, reading: "Will you be my friend," and Effie selected for a reply the non-committal sentiment, "I like your company."

The party was breaking up, when Bertram came across Effie in a curtness, and boldly determined to give expression to the promptings of his ardent heart before they separated.

"Will you kiss me?" read the heart-shaped confection with which he presented her, and Effie flushed and quivered and leaned her velvety cheek towards him, her eyes sparkling bright. Just then her name was called out and two girl friends, seeking her, broke in upon the seclusion of the niche. Effie, startled, drew back from the rapt, eagerly expectant face of her youthful suitor and advanced to meet the others. She, however, directed a swift glance over her shoulder at Bertram intensely expressive of disappointment. Then, coming to a pause before the two girls, she put one, clasped, hand behind her.

The dainty member described an unmistakable signal to her luckless swain. Bertram was keen to construe it. He glided directly behind her. Her fingers unclosed, revealing a lozenge evidently treasured for the occasion. She slipped it into Bertram's hand and then went away.

"I love you," it read, and Bertram, the boy, felt a sudden surging of delicious emotion within his being that stayed with him for days, and after that was a memory, sweet, innocent, abiding for years.

Bertram's father and mother moved away from Rockton within a month and he saw Effie only once or twice during that period, and then in the company of others upon the street. He felt lonesome and homesick amid new scenes until he became interested in resumed school duties. It was two years later, when he graduated into a higher educational phase. The impulse came upon him to write to his little friend of old, proudly telling of being awarded recognition as the youngest and most proficient of his class. The smoldering fire of his early love was fanned into vivid flame, when he received a pretty girlish note in reply, full of little nothings, but showing that Effie had not forgotten him.

It became a great pleasure to Bertram to thus begin a correspondence that alleviated the tedium of the four succeeding years. The mutual misadventures never went beyond the bounds of friendship, but it was a fond memory for Bertram to picture the idol of his boyhood dreams grown into a young lady, and when she sent him her photograph he treasured a second prized memento of his only love experience, the first being the lozenge, so surreptitiously, but consolingly passed to him that memorable evening in the long ago.

The day that Bertram Morris obtained his diploma as a member of the legal bar, thus equipped to meet the mature responsibilities of life, he received a letter from Effie glowing with pride and pleasure over her own graduation at the seminary at Rockton. She told of a party that was to be given in her honor. "And what do you think?" she wrote vivaciously, "it is to be at the home of Eleanor Dwyer, don't you remember, Bertram, where we last met and where we were the same good friends that we are now? Of course you can't come all that way just to see me, but Eleanor insists she shall send you an invitation, anyway."

The same arrived. A legacy from an aunt had given Bertram a favorable income, and there was no question of sparing the money for the trip he at once mediated. He voted it a favor of fate that was reassuring, as at the party during the evening he and Effie found themselves in the same retired niche when their early mutual liking had found its birth. Their eyes met in mutual comprehension of the situation.

"Is it not strange?" spoke Effie. "It was six years ago that you and I—"

"Were boy and girl, in this same spot?" added Bertram, leaning closer towards her. "I wish to show you something, Effie," and from an inner pocket, wrapped in a fragment of silk, he drew forth and revealed the "I love you" lozenge he had preserved through the years.

Effie blushed and fluttered as he caught her hand in his own. "I asked you a question then," whispered Bertram. "Do you remember, dearest?" he pressed. "I ask it again now."

"The answer then is the answer now," whispered Effie, her fair face half averted because of confession and emotion.

And the long deferred kiss was given and taken, a sure presage of the union of two loving hearts in the near future.

The Ford Keeps Pluggin' Ahead

(Sung to the tune of "Casey Jones") Old Zeke Perkins sold his hogs the other day, The gosh darned fool threw his money right away; Rode into town, sitting on a board, Came home ridin' in a brand new Ford.

When he got to the house and turned toward the gate, He shut down the throttle and heput on the brake;
He grabbed for the reins, got the throttle instead,
And the gosh darned Ford kept a pluggin' right ahead.

Zeke jerked at the levers and he turned off the gas, He kicked at the pedals and he broke out the glass, He cut all the wires and he pulled off the top, But the gosh-dinged Ford, it just wouldn't stop.

So he pulled out his knife, and he smiled all serene, Cut a hole in the tank, drained out the gasoline;
He pulled out his gun, shot the tires full of lead, But the gosh-dinged Ford kept a pluggin' right ahead.

Zeke went through the fence and up through the lane, Miranda saw him coming and almost went insane; She ran out ahead, then she stopped to see—
And the Ford struck her squarely where the bustle ought to be.

She struck out her arms as she went in the air, Just as Zeke went by she grabbed him by the hair, She bounded on the seat, landed on the pad,
And the garsh-dinged Ford kept a pluggin' right ahead.

Zeke steered for the shed, but just missed the hole, Struck an old sow, and you should have seen her roll; Then out through the yard they landed in a heap, In a big muddy pool, 'bout six feet deep.

Zeke grabbed Miranda, and struck for the shore, He was glad it had stopped and would go no more;
He picked up his ears, then he looked back and said,
"Why, the garsh-darned thing is pluggin' right ahead."

Electric Welding.

Three methods of electric welding are now generally employed. In "spot" welding the metals are placed in contact and an electric current is sent between them; in "seam" or "line" welding mechanically driven roller electrodes are used, and in the "carbon arc" process—in which an iron pencil has replaced the carbon rod—the metal is melted by the electric arc. In shipbuilding thick steel plates are more profitably joined than by riveting. In butt welds the tensile strength is 90 to 95 per cent of that of the solid plates.

Exerted Persuasive Power.

Roland was a "native son" and had taken heed of the conversations of his friends with their many relatives and friends who visited them in California. When a small puppy was given to him the little chap was much disappointed because Pat would not follow him about, but preferred to linger near the milk saucer. After having exhausted all his wiles to no effect, his distressed little face suddenly brightened once more with coaxing smiles. Certain at last that he had remembered an unfailing inducement, he cried joyfully: "Come on, Pat! Come on down in the canyon with me—awful pretty view down there!"

Don't snore in church and keep the others awake. That's mean.

Flanders Always in Limelight.

No part of Europe has a more romantic or a more militant history than that stretch of land between Calais and the Scheldt over which the counts of Flanders held sway for hundreds of years. There is, indeed no century in the Christian era in which Flanders has not figured in the world's history of peace and war. Even as far back as the first century when it was part of the Roman province of Belgica Secunda this region was distinguished for its industrial towns, which were remarkable for their large populations and democratic rule.

Fishing for Diamonds.

There is a theory that diamonds sometimes fall from the sky, and now it is thought that they may also be found in the sea. Men have had to go to the depths of the sea for pearls, but up to the present diamonds have been mined from the ground. In South-west Africa, however, where the Germans used to pick up diamonds along the shore, men are now beginning to fish in the sea for these precious stones. In the course of centuries the heavy rain has washed large quantities of loose earth off the coast into the ocean, and some of the best diamond deposits have been washed away. A diamond company is now sending ships to dredge the mud off the coast, in the hope of fishing up millions of lost diamonds.

Plain Pastry

This recipe is for one large pie with top and bottom crust

2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder 1/2 cup shortening
cold water

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder; add shortening and rub in very lightly with tips of fingers (the less it is handled the better the paste will be). Add cold water very slowly, enough to hold dough together (do not work or knead dough). Divide in halves; roll out one part thin on floured board and use for bottom crust. After pie is filled roll out other part for top.

Rich Pastry

2 cups pastry flour
1/2 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
cold water

Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add one-half shortening

Absolutely Pure

and rub in lightly with fingers; add water slowly until of right consistency to roll out. Divide in halves; roll out one half thin; put on in small pieces half remaining shortening; fold upper and lower edges in to center; fold sides in to center, fold sides to center again, roll out thin and put on pie plate. Repeat with other half for top crust.

Apple Pie

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
4 apples, or 1 quart sliced apples 2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add shortening and rub in very lightly; add just enough cold water to hold dough together. Roll half out on floured board, line bottom of pie plate; fill in apples, which have been washed, pared and cut into thin slices; sprinkle with sugar; flavor with cinnamon or nutmeg; wet edges of crust with cold water; roll out remainder of pastry; cover pie, pressing edges tightly together and bake in moderate oven 30 minutes.

Resilvering Mirror.

Select a sheet of tin-foil of required size and pour over it three drams of quicksilver for each square foot of foil. Then rub the foil with buckskin until it becomes brilliant. Lay a sheet of paper over the foil, completely covering it, and place upon the paper a slab of marble or block of wood with flat smooth surface. Allow to stand for three or four hours to "set" and then remove the weight. If the work has been carefully done the foil will adhere closely to the glass. Usually, however, it is cheaper and more satisfactory to buy a new mirror than to attempt to resilver an old one.

Ancient Ruling House.

The Rajput house of Chamba has ruled the little Indian mountain state for more than 1,500 years of unbroken descent. Long before the dawn of modern English history, before the Mussulman invasion, through all the changing scenes and dynasties of northern India, this Rajput state has upheld its independence under the same Rajput family. The Raja Bhuri Singh has just died. When royalty was thrust upon him 15 years ago by his brother's abdication, he accepted his honors under protest with modesty and dignity and with the fullest sense of responsibility has ruled his state in the interest of his people.

MAINTAIN ROAD AFTER BUILT

Improper Methods Have Placed Economical Types in Disrepute, Says Colorado Expert.

Prof. E. B. House of the Colorado Agricultural College is a firm believer in the importance of maintaining a road after it is built. He supplies the following, taken from The Engineering News-Record, and says of it "It is so true and hits the nail so squarely that I quote it direct":

"The tendency in road improvement is to select types of roads which require very little annual maintenance. The general feeling among laymen seems to be that when a road surface requires some annual maintenance to keep it in good shape, it is an expensive type and should be avoided. Yet, if the interest on investment and the repairs are taken into consideration, the cheaper wearing surface may in many cases prove to be the more satisfactory and economical.

"It is not uncommon to see roads of a good type constructed and then, after they begin to show signs of wear, to see them neglected entirely or some method of repair or maintenance imposed which has been found by long practice to be defective. When we see mud holes in earth roads filled with riprap, crushed stone or cinders, it is not the engineer's fault that an enormous price is paid for the repair material; the road engineer knows that proper drainage, and repairing with earth from the side of the road, are the economical methods of maintenance.

"Old gravel and macadam roads are often repaired by filling ruts and depressions with inferior material that is readily displaced by traffic or ground to dust. Bituminous surfaces are often patched, if patched at all, with loose stone or gravel, and in some cases with concrete. In a number of streets and roads recently inspected, brick was used to patch concrete surfaces, and concrete used to patch brick surfaces.

"When careless methods of this kind are applied to the maintenance of public highways, the result is that a good type of road is made to appear unsatisfactory and uneconomical, and road improvement is discouraged—particularly the cheaper types of improvement, which in most localities are the best if properly maintained. It is the utter neglect of maintenance and the many improper methods of repair that have molded public sentiment against types of roads requiring annual maintenance, and have led road promoters and officials to disregard many economical types."
